KING OF SIAM TO AVOID RUSH OF LABOR DAY

Advances Date of Arrival on Island to September 5

Vice-regal Suite at Empress to Be Headquarters of Party

To complete final details for the reception and stay in Victoria of King Prajadhipok of Siam, Capt. W. J. Watson-Armstrong, consul-general for Siam in Canada, arrived in Victoria to-day.

Because Labor Day comes on September 5, it has been found necessary, in order to escape the holiday crowds, to advance the date of the arrival on the island of the king. Capt. Watson-Armstrong, announced, under the latest arrangements, the king will cross from Vancouver to the island on September 5. He will make his headquarters at Quilicum Beach Hotel, while staying up-island. On September 10 he and his staff will make the trip to Victoria over the Island Highway in the fleet of motor cars which are being specially prepared here for his occupancy.

ROYAL DINNER AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE

On the arrival of the royal party at the Empress Hotel, Lieutenant-Governor J. W. Fortham Johnson will call to extend an official welcome to British Columbia. On the evening of September 10, the Lieutenant-Governor will give a dinner at Government House for him.

According to to-day's plans, the King and Queen will stay at the Empress Hotel, occupying the vice-regal suite there. The accommodations in connection with the suite have been inquired into, and it has been found that they are in keeping with the royal demands.

LEAVE TRAIN AT LYTON

The consul-general, after getting everything in readiness here, will leave for Lyton, B.C., where he will meet the royal party.

DEADLOCK IN RUPERT CASE

Prolonged Inquiry Indicates Little Chance of Solving Mystery of Sinking

Finding of Cause Impossible With Material on Hand, Says Commissioner

Vancouver, Aug. 28.—After three days of protracted examination and cross-examination it appeared at noon to-day that there is little chance of solving the mystery surrounding the sinking of Canadian National Ss. Prince Rupert while enroute to Yellowknife, N.W.T., on March 6.

"We won't find why the ship capsized by the material we have on hand," stated the Dominion deputy wreck commissioner during the course of the morning hearing.

The inquiry continued this afternoon with the calling of secondary witnesses.

Asked where the water came from which caused the ship's original list and led to flooding by sea water and subsequent sinking, Richard Knox, supervising engineer for Canadian National Steamship Limited, said:

"If I knew this investigation would not have been necessary."

The witness said he did not think "outside malice" was responsible. He did think, however, that it was wrong practice to allow a youthful fireman with but one year's sea experience, to handle valves of service tanks. He thought, too, that ports in the glory-hole should have been closed at night.

He said that he thought both H. H. Boyd and George Storey, chief and second engineers respectively, were competent men. "I would recommend them for jobs to-morrow," he added.

Once again on the stand, former Chief Engineer Boyd told the commission (Concluded on Page 2)

Bruhn Suggests Two Governments Take Over All Relief

Ottawa Asked by British Columbia to Provide Half Cost of All Public Works Initiated for Unemployed; Reeve Crouch Tells Saanich Council of Far-reaching Proposal by Minister of Public Works; Dilatory Federal Policy Creates Problem; Saanich Situation Serious

British Columbia is pressing the Dominion Government to join with the provincial governments in assuming the whole cost of providing works to relieve unemployment, until the situation either improves or becomes too heavy to be borne without calling on municipalities to share in the cost.

Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, is energetically pressing upon Ottawa the urgency of a generous attitude of this character and expects a definite reply before the week-end.

This new development in the unemployment situation in Canada was revealed yesterday evening to the Saanich Council by Reeve William Crouch, at a special meeting held to consider the alarming situation facing Saanich, where 578 workless men are registered, the municipal treasury is stripped of its last dollar available for public works, and little hope exists that money by-laws can be passed or, if approved by the ratepayers, would provide funds in time to meet the emergency.

"I have told Premier Tominie 'It is an impossibility for Saanich to put another five cents into unemployment relief,'" Reeve Crouch told the council. "If the voters would approve a by-law, which is doubtful at this time, it would be two months, at least, before we could do anything."

MINISTER'S ATTITUDE

"I had an interview this afternoon with Hon. R. W. Bruhn, and the minister stated that he was wiring the Dominion for a definite statement. He said that if the Dominion would undertake to put up money on a fifty-fifty basis the municipalities would be relieved of practically all unemployment problems until the load became too heavy for the two governments, at which stage the municipalities might be called on to help carry the load."

"Mr. Bruhn said the Province could provide plenty of work for all requiring employment if the Dominion consented to the fifty-fifty proposal."

DELAY DEPRECATED

"Mr. Bruhn agreed something definite must be quickly established, and (Concluded on Page 2)

Moyle and Pangborn Crews Prepare For Japan-Seattle Hops

Tokyo, Aug. 28.—Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, United States aviators, to-day announced they planned to start a non-stop plane flight early next week to Seattle, Wash., from Samushiro Beach, northern Hondo Island, 380 miles from Tokyo.

PANGBORN-HERNDON ATTEMPT

Tokyo, Aug. 28.—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., United States fliers, who were fitted heavily for flying over and photographing fortified Japanese territories, optimistically completed to-day plans for the installation of two extra gasoline tanks in their plane.

They hope to attempt a non-stop flight across the North Pacific to Seattle if the Japanese Aviation Bureau will grant them a flying permit.

The United States Embassy here recently applied for a permit in behalf of the fliers and since has been pressing the aviation bureau, but the permit has not yet been granted.

A Japanese newspaper has a $25,000 prize standing for the first plane which makes a Japan-United States non-stop flight.

BRUHN DENIES FATHERING NEW RELIEF SCHEME

"Reeve Crouch appears to have entirely misunderstood my statement of the status of negotiations with the Federal Government regarding unemployment. I have made no recommendations whatever. I have only asked for an immediate announcement of Federal policy," Hon. R. W. Bruhn this afternoon informed The Times when asked for an official statement of the attitude of British Columbia.

"How can I tell the Federal Government what they should contribute toward relief of unemployment?" he asked. "I would be most unwilling to ask the Dominion to contribute twenty-five per cent of the cost of municipal relief works. We might need more."

HENDERSON NEW BRITISH LABOR PARTY LEADER

Chosen By 274 M.P.'s to Take Place Held Till Now By MacDonald

Premier Holds to Course; Liberals and Conservatives Vote Leaders Support

Canadian Press and Associated Press Dispatches

London, Aug. 28.—Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, former foreign secretary, was elected leader of the British Labor Party to-day to succeed Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald.

Mr. Henderson will lead the Labor opposition in the coming special session of Parliament against the MacDonald National Government.

Premier MacDonald to-day defied the ranks of organized labor, which opposed him in the hour of financial emergency. He declared his path lay "straight ahead" on the course of the new National Government.

Mr. MacDonald will direct the new regime with the utmost vigor through Great Britain's present difficulties, it was said.

Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to-day announced he would fight to a finish with the non-partisan ministry, and that he would not seek re-election at the next general election. He said his decision had been made four months ago.

JOWITT ATTORNEY-GENERAL

This afternoon it was announced Sir William Jowitt had accepted appointment as Attorney-General, giving the Premier the fifth Labor member in the ministry.

SIX FOR MACDONALD

At to-day's meeting only six of the 280 members of the Labor parliamentary party voted to retain Mr. MacDonald as leader. The others lined up solidly behind the alternative proposal which organized Labor is advancing as substitutes for the programme of the non-partisan National Government. The heart of the Labor is adamant opposition to cuts in the unemployment dole.

Replacement of Mr. MacDonald as the party chief was inevitable in the face of the bitter resentment by Labor to his organization of the National cabinet. His position as head of the government forced to balance the budget remains unchanged, although he is without a mandate from the Labor party.

The erstwhile opposition, both Conservative and Liberal, has endorsed the (Concluded on Page 2)

NAMED TO LEAD OPPOSITION IN BRITISH HOUSE

Special to The Times

Duncan, Aug. 28.—Fire which followed a mysterious explosion early this morning destroyed the sawmill of the Marbin Lumber Company at Kinslow, near Cowichan Station. Four cars of the Canadian National Railway, one loaded with lumber, were burned before they could be moved and 750,000 feet of lumber stacked in the storage yard were destroyed. The mill was modern and valued at $25,000, and had a daily output of 35,000 feet. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

The fire broke out with sudden fury at 4 o'clock this morning, immediately after an explosion which aroused the families of several workmen living nearby. The explosion was described by a woman as similar to a loud rifle shot, while another person said the sound was similar to a blow on a drum. It is thought that a partly emptied oil drum may have exploded.

The centre of the fire was close to the controls of two powerful pumps and excellent fire fighting apparatus of the plant, recently installed and warmly commended by Robert Murray, provincial forest ranger. The equipment could not be reached by the employees of the mill, despite desperate efforts under the direction of Manager Binns.

The Marbin Lumber Co. employed eighteen men in the bush, and twenty-five in the sawmill. Of the workmen, four were Chinese and about half the mill hands were Hindus.

When it was obvious that the mill could not be saved the workers devoted all efforts to suppressing many incipient fires in nearby slashings. A fire pump was loaned by the Forest Protection Service and men were still on guard at noon.

POLICE FIGHT ROBBERY WAVE IN VANCOUVER

Piano Company Looted For Third Time This Year; Thieves Get $450

Number of Other Stores Suffer Losses; Youths Make Raids From Stolen Car

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 28.—Police here to-day were searching for safe-crackers who for the third time this summer made a raid on the J. W. Kelly Piano Company's store, Granville Street, taking $450.

How the robbers forced entry into the store is something of a mystery, for after the earlier safe-crackings special precautions were taken to guard the premises. Bars were placed over the windows and skylight through which entrance was gained before.

It is possible, police say, the bandits had made a skeleton key or that they hid in the store before closing time.

The safe-crackers knocked the dial off the strong box and forced back the tumblers. They took only cash, leaving cheques and other papers undisturbed.

CLOCKS STOLEN

Bandits who broke into premises of General Distributors Limited on Seymour Street yesterday evening stole sixteen electrical clocks valued at $170, and ransacked desks in an attempt to find cash.

A typewriter, a cheque protector and an adding machine, valued altogether at $300, were stolen from the Opal Steel Company's place on East Second Avenue. The combination dial was smashed off the safe, but efforts to open the strong box failed.

The desk chairs were stolen from the Brockton Point cricket grounds.

A radio valued at $200 and $20 worth of tobacco were taken from A. Napier's cafe on Granville Street.

Operating from a sedan which they had stolen from Cecil Williams, taxi driver, at 9 p.m., two youthful bandits held up three stores and one service station in the South Vancouver area within an hour yesterday evening. (Concluded on Page 2)

DO-X II Flies To Italian Port

Altenrhein, Switzerland, Aug. 28.—The big new flying boat DO-X II, slighted at Spezia, Italy, this afternoon, according to a message received by the Dornier Works here.

The craft, sister ship of the flying boat that arrived at New York yesterday, took off from Lake Constance this morning to join the Italian air manoeuvres on the northern frontier of Italy. Eighteen officers and men were aboard.

It got away from here in perfect weather, gained altitude over the lake and circled twice above the hangar at Friedrichshafen, from where the Graf Zeppelin is scheduled to leave to-morrow on a second non-stop cruise to South America.

Tokyo, Aug. 28.—Rounding out a day crowded with official and social functions, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were formally welcomed to Japan this evening at a banquet given by members of the cabinet.

The banquet came at the end of the hottest day of the year in Tokyo and those attending it were attired informally because of the severity of the temperature.

The banquet was given under the auspices of the ministries of War, Navy and Communications at the Imperial Hotel. Foreign dishes were served. Large numbers of Japanese officials attended and members of the United States Embassy staff were present.

When Mr. Baldwin rose to speak the audience gave him an ovation, and when he finished they adopted unanimously a resolution supporting his course of action.

COALITION TEMPORARY

Mr. Baldwin emphasized the National Government is a temporary combination only whose single function is to balance the budget.

"When that is done," he said, "our agreement ends and we part company."

As for the tariff issue, he added, "when this Parliament dissolves, when our economies are carried out and the budget is balanced, then we will have a straight fight on the tariff against the Socialist party."

"The ship of state," said he, "is in danger of going on the rocks and if that happens no course whatever can be steered afterward. The financial credit and the currency of this country are in danger and the only national and patriotic line to pursue is the combination of all parties in one great effort."

STOCK SALESMAN FACES TRIAL IN TORONTO COURT

Canadian Press

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Frederick William Duggan, stock salesman, was arrested here to-day by provincial police on a charge of fraud preferred under the Ontario Security Frauds Prevention Act by the Attorney-General's Department. The charge arises from a transaction in Beuhamois Power Company bonds and those of the Canadian Rail and Harbor Company, alleged to have taken place between Duggan and Mrs. Sarah Jane Lowell and Miss Margaret Lowell of Grand Valley, Ont.

It is alleged the accused sold the Beuhamois bonds, valued at about $3,000, to the complainants in March later advising them to sell these for the Canadian Rail bonds. The department alleges an exorbitant profit of some $450 in the difference of price was made.

ONTARIO HYDRO BOARD TO MAKE EXPLANATION

Now Considering Hamilton Board's Request on Payment of $50,000 to Aird

Toronto, Aug. 28.—The Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission to-day received the resolution of the Hamilton Hydro Commission in reference to the payment of $50,000 to John Aird Jr., Hon. J. R. Cooke, chairman of the Ontario Commission, said that body would take the resolution into consideration.

The Hamilton commission's resolution, passed August 25, calls on the Ontario commission to make a "clear, public statement" regarding the payment of $50,000 to Mr. Aird, said to have been made for advice in connection with the purchase of power rights on the Madawaska River from the M. J. O'Brien interests of Ottawa.

John Aird Jr. is defendant in a writ issued at Osgoode Hall here by Reginald W. Millard, Toronto engineer, for an accounting in respect of the $125,000 received by Aird in connection with the Beauharnois power deal "and of moneys received by the defendant from the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. Mr. Millard's writ speaks specifically of the $125,000 as "referred to in the defendant's evidence in the Beauharnois power investigation," and asks for a general accounting as a partner on all moneys received by Aird in connection with anything arising out of the partnership arrangement.

Millard's counsel says his client was a partner of John Aird Jr. for the last two years, and worked on the technicalities of the deal with the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Baltimore Workers Cut Wage Rates

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 28.—For the first time in a decade members of the Baltimore building trades council have accepted a voluntary cut in wages, it became known to-day. The organization announced the reduction of 10 per cent in the hourly rate was made by the carpenters, who reduced their own pay $1.10 to $1 an hour. The steamfitters' union cut its rate from $1.50 to $1.25. The last cut in wages made by the building trades was in 1921.

The present cut was made to meet competition of non-union workers, who have no wage rate and who are given preference by contractors, according to union officials.

COTTON HOLIDAY FOR LOUISIANA

WILL CONTINUE ITS VOCATIONAL RESEARCH WORK

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—Delegates to the fifth triennial conference here of the Canadian Federation of University Women to-day recommended that the vocational bureau, organized in July under the direction of Miss True Davidson of Toronto, be continued. The purpose of the bureau is to gain information, through research work, of positions open to women in Canada, give them advice on matters pertaining to the positions for which they are suited and then help to place them. This work is done principally through the Sunday schools and Y.W.C.A.

An invitation was accepted from the Edmonton University Women's Club to meet in their city for the next triennial.

The report of the educational committee recommended that a study of the curriculum be made in secondary schools of Canada, for the purpose of making it more uniform. It also recommended the use of the radio for educational purposes.

French Industries' Losses Are Reported

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 28.—A gloomy picture of the present state of French industry and commerce was presented to the Institute of Politics here yesterday evening by Charles Le Neveu, president of L'Union Coloniale Francaise, in his final address on France and the world economic crisis. Le Neveu said the budget of France was practically at a standstill, the importation of manufactured goods in the colonies had in general stopped, and most of the houses engaged in colonial trade were on the verge of bankruptcy and might be saved only by drastic measures and a prompt renewal of better business.

"Why is Hotstuff running down the street yelling like a house afire?" "Because his house is afire."

EMPLOYMENT TOTAL GROWS IN DOMINION

Little Change in British Columbia; Prairie Relief Works Absorb Men

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Employment in Canada at the beginning of August showed a further upward movement, according to statements tabulated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics from 7,887 firms, whose payrolls aggregated 956,238 persons, as compared with 943,419 on July 1.

The index number stood at 105.2, compared with 103.8 on July 1, 1931, and 118.8, 127.8, 119.3, 110.5, 105.5, 97.5, 95.8, 101.4, 94.2 and 90.9 on August 1, 1930, 1929, 1928, 1927, 1926, 1925, 1924, 1923, 1922 and 1921, respectively. The employers making returns therefore reported smaller payrolls than at the beginning of August in the preceding four years, but the index of employment was practically the same as in 1926, and was higher than in the five years, 1921-1925.

Construction reported a very large gain, chiefly due to important works undertaken for the relief of unemployment in Saskatchewan. The tendency was also favorable in mining, communications, transportation and services. On the other hand, logging continued seasonally quiet, and there were also losses in manufacturing and trade.

Greater activity was shown in the prairie provinces. Employment declined in Quebec, Ontario and the Maritime Provinces, while very little general change was indicated in British Columbia.

A very pronounced increase in employment was indicated in the prairie provinces, where 1,162 employers reported 156,504 workers, or 34,561 more than at the beginning of July. That increase, which was the largest ever reported in the prairie provinces, was almost entirely due to road work undertaken for the relief of unemployment in Saskatchewan. Services and telephones also showed moderate improvement, but manufacturing, transportation and building construction were slower. Smaller gains had been reported on August 1, 1930, and the index then was rather lower than on the date under review.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Practically no general change was registered in British Columbia, where food canning and electric current plants, transportation, communications and building construction showed improvement, which, however, was offset by losses in logging, highway construction, shipping and metal works. Returns were compiled from 787 firms employing 79,323 persons, or almost the same number as in the preceding month. Increases were indicated at the beginning of August of last year, when the situation was more favorable.

SEEK STATEMENT ON DEPORTATIONS

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Information as to the basis on which the federal government is prepared to deport public charges who have asked for deportation is again sought by the Regina city council.

A list of twenty-six applicants for free passage out of the Dominion was presented to the aldermen yesterday evening by the city commissioner. The matter was tabled.

A previous request for information had failed to bring a reply, stated Commissioner J. Westgate. Out of more than 100 would-be deportees whose names were sent to the Federal Department of Immigration several months ago, only three had so far been sent back to their place of origin.

MacDonald's Hat Stirs Up Criticism

London, Aug. 28.—It is a hard world for politicians.

All London was amused over a photograph of Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader and President of the Council in the National Government, entering the back door of No. 10 Downing Street with a spare suit over his arm, three pipes and a bowler hat. Now it is Premier MacDonald's turn. The Tailor and Cutter turns his expert criticism on Mr. MacDonald's bowler hat. "Mr. MacDonald went to see the King in a morning coat, but in a bowler instead of the traditional silk hat," says the tailor's organ. "We are accustomed to seeing statesmen in strange gear, and time has hardened us to many of their vagaries, but this is the unkindest cut of all—a bowler hat with a morning coat."

PRIZES FOR HORSES

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 28.—Special awards of the Canadian Percheron Breeders' Association were captured at the Central Canada Exhibition Horse Show here yesterday by G. T. Fraser of Yale, Sask. He took first prize for Canadian bred stallions with his animal, Masterpiece II. The best excuse we can make for the hat is that it was an emergency hat. The unholy combination of a bowler hat and a tail coat suggested a workman instead of a minister of the Crown.

FARM MORTGAGES

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Holders of farm mortgages have heard the appeal of Hon. T. L. Kennedy, provincial Minister of Agriculture, asking them to give Ontario farmers a breathing spell in which to get back on their feet. Col. Kennedy, himself a farmer, wrote to mortgage companies asking them not to take over farms in default of payments, but to wait until conditions improved.

EXPERT SALESMANSHIP WANTED

IN HIS ADDRESS AT A JOINT LUNCHEON of local bodies yesterday Hon. Herbert Marler, Canada's Minister to Japan, told his audience that China bought from abroad in 1929 more than $110,000,000 worth of goods, and that an analysis of these purchases showed that Canada might have supplied nearly $45,000,000 worth, whereas our exports had averaged only $16,000,000.

Everywhere he has spoken during the last few weeks Mr. Marler has emphasized the necessity of Canadian producers going after this business, not only for reasons of profit but also to win the confidence and friendship of the Oriental peoples and lay the foundation for still greater trade development.

As Mr. Marler very properly points out, while diplomatic representatives and trade commissioners are rendering efficient service in assembling information regarding this market and forming promising contacts, their activities are of no avail if they are not backed up by the practical interest of Canadian producers. To what extent will these producers try to capture that $45,000,000 business which Mr. Marler says is open to them? He has warned them that unless they go after it aggressively, the other fellow will get there first and take the cream of it. The delegation of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce which toured the Orient last winter returned to this country with glowing accounts of the cordial manner in which its members had been received wherever they went; but laid special emphasis on the trade opportunities that awaited in that vast field with its teeming millions. Is Canada ready to develop her salesmanship on sufficiently aggressive lines to take advantage of them? This is the point which our exporters must determine for themselves. The way has been cleared for them.

DRIFT TO THE TOWNS

IN THE EYES OF THE UNITED STATES Census Bureau, the dividing line between rural and urban population falls in villages of 2,500 people. This definition is a generous concession to the pride of smaller towns, since there are few places of that size which seem distinctly urban. Yet since the bureau has used the same unit of measurement for some years, its figures accurately gauge the drift of population. Fifty years ago, The New York Times points out, 28.4 per cent of the people of the United States lived in urban communities, thus defined. Each succeeding census has shown a larger figure. By 1920, 51.4 per cent of the population lived in villages and cities. The latest report of the bureau shows that this number increased to 56.2 in 1930.

This growth in urban population has been accompanied in few cases by a corresponding growth in the political authority of the cities. Though nearly three-fifths of the country's population now live in urban communities, it compared with a little more than one-fifth in 1880, we read further, while the basis of representation in state legislatures has changed little in the last half century. Accordingly, there is on all sides evidence of gross over-representation for rural counties which have steadily declined in percentage of population and gross under-representation for rapidly growing cities. It has often been noted, The Times says, that one voter in rural Putnam County, New York, has as much voice in his State Assembly as five voters in certain districts of New York City. Even more striking cases of misrepresentation occur in other states. In the July issue of The American Mercury it was pointed out that one voter in Echols County, Georgia, is worth as many as thirty-five voters in Atlanta on election day. Atlanta has eleven per cent of the State's population and pays twenty-four per cent of its ad valorem tax, but is represented in the lower house of the State Legislature by only 1.4 per cent of the members of that body.

The political advantage which the rural communities enjoy dates back to the adoption of state constitutions and the original distribution of power among the counties. Some concessions have been made from time to time, in order to modernize the system, but as a rule rural members of Legislatures have been reluctant to redistrict their states in accordance with the growth of population. In consequence, inequalities appeared many years ago. These have become more obvious with time as the present figures of the Census Bureau show. The drift of population may be toward the towns, The Times concludes, but political authority remains on the land, where it was first planted.

AFTER MR. AIRD

ONE OF THE INTERESTING DEVELOPMENTS of the Beaumont affair is the attitude of the tax collector towards the $125,000 Mr. John Aird Jr., received from Mr. Sweeney and the $50,000 he received from the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission. In respect of the larger sum, Mr. Aird declared before the special committee of the House of Commons that it was for services rendered, while he argued that the smaller sum was a perfectly legitimate contribution to his private purse, as it also was for services rendered in connection with a power deal.

A departmental announcement from Ottawa says the case of Mr. Aird is under consideration. The tax collector apparently regards this whole payment of $175,000 as income for professional services, and, as such, liable to taxation. Now the city of Toronto, which levies a tax on such income, has been informed by the Assessment Commissioner that Mr. Aird has made no return of the items. These two agencies, of course, do not care what the money was paid to Mr. Aird for. They are satisfied he still has it and that it is fair game for them. Tax collectors have a knack of sticking to the trail until they catch their quarry.

LORD CECIL TO GENEVA AGAIN

ALTHOUGH PERHAPS THE FORTH-coming disarmament conference may overshadow the session of the Assembly of the League of Nations which will commence its deliberations next week, there will be general satisfaction over the choice of Lord Cecil to head the delegation from Great Britain at that gathering.

Lord Cecil represented his country on the League's Council from 1919 to 1927 and his labors in the cause of peace are well known. It will be remembered that in 1927 he resigned from the Baldwin cabinet because he was not convinced that the government was whole-hearted in seeking to promote international disarmament and peace. He gave his reasons in a "Minute" after the failure of the disarmament conference at Geneva earlier that year. In part he said: "I believe that a general reduction and limitation of armaments is essential to the peace of the world, and on that peace depends not only the existence of the British Empire but even that of European civilization itself." Lord Cecil then referred to the 1927 spring session of the League's Preparatory Commission for the Reduction and Limitation of Armaments, which he says "was to me of a disquieting nature," as, "over and over again, I was compelled by my instructions to maintain propositions in the Commission which were difficult to reconcile with any serious desire for the success of its labors." In conclusion he said: "I can see no way, then, in which I can be of further service in the cabinet to this cause which I regard as extremely important."

Much has happened, of course, since Lord Cecil wrote his famous "Minute" of resignation. Mr. Baldwin, who then was his leader, Mr. Lloyd George, and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, not to mention that great soldier, Sir William Robertson, have appeared on the same platform and have demanded disarmament. But if more of the Cecil outlook had existed in 1927, the world might have accomplished in the intervening years much that would have softened the blow of the present economic crisis.

COURTING THE MUSES

TEN YEARS AGO TWO ENGLISHMEN wrote a book, "Under the Brutchstone." For a whole decade they tried without success to find a market for it, nine publishers rejecting it. Now it has been published, more than 30,000 copies have been sold in England, and an American edition is being published this fall.

But for Jonathan Denwood, one of the two authors, the good news has come too late. He is dying, and he told a friend recently:

"I am so ill now that I cannot enjoy the luck or success that has come so suddenly. While my book kicked from publisher to publisher I desperately needed money for the skilled medical attention which is now too late. If 300,000 copies were sold it would make no difference."

In the long history of the arts this tale has been repeated many times. Poe saw his girl-wife die and lacked even the means to keep her warm in her last hours; since then his books have sold all over the civilized world. Cezanne could hardly give his paintings away while he lived; now each canvas is worth thousands. Whitman's friends had to help support him in his old age; "Leaves of Grass" to-day sells infinitely better than it did in his lifetime.

Clearly, then, the man who tries to earn his bread by following one of the arts is courting many risks. The one consolation is that the artist's chief reward is never a thing that can be measured in dollars.

To be sure, the artist suffers from poverty quite as much as anyone else. But the difference is that he can comfort himself with the consciousness of success even though he has not a dime. The lawyer (let us say) who cannot support himself is pretty clearly a poor lawyer; the novelist or painter who is always broke may be one of the supreme artists of the age.

For the artist, after all, is a man apart. He follows a gleam that most of us never see, except as he shows it to us. Life is a richer and more noble experience for him than for the rest of us. Fate very often treats him with ironical cruelty; but he finds the game worth the candle, nevertheless.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

JEALOUS?
The Calgary Herald

Winnipeg matrons do not object to flour bag-legged pyjama skirts for street wear, but are up in arms against the close, form-fitting, hip-disclosing skirt favored by the younger set. Can it be that the matrons are jealous?

THAT BLANK CHEQUE
The Toronto Globe

Premier Bennett seems determined to assume autocratic power in regard to the expenditure of money in an effort to alleviate distress anticipated during the winter season because of unemployment. He demands what is in essence a blank cheque, with which he may do as he pleases. A bad precedent to establish. No man or government should be given such absolute power, no matter what the circumstances.

Times, admittedly, are bad in Canada, as elsewhere, but this country is far from conditions justifying a dictatorship. If absolute power in this connection, why not in others? Premier Bennett is disposed to be a law unto himself. He is impatient of interference with his plans and confident of his ability to make them effective; but it will be hard to convince the taxpayers of Canada that their representatives in Parliament should not have something to say as to how much is to be taken from the public purse.

"BENNETT TOURISTS"
The Saskatoon Tribune

Referring editorially to unemployment conditions in The Maritimes, and the number of men, most of them young, who are looking for work, The Halifax Chronicle says: "All along the railway lines there are men, most of them young, working their way from one place to another, without work and with little hope of any. These men are not tramps. They are sons and brothers and husbands, a cross patch of the country's ordinary manhood, who have been unfortunate enough to find themselves with nothing to do and move from one point to another in hope of getting work and wages."

They are not tramps—no, certainly not. Just what they are was pithily explained by a couple of these fellows the other day. It appears that the Town Marshal ordered them out of town; but within a couple of days he noticed that they were back again. "I thought I warned you two hoboes to get out of town and stay out," remarked the marshal. "We're not hoboes, we're 'Bennett tourists,'" they promptly responded.

Loose Ends

Nipper is found in the clutches of the Corporation—which seems to enjoy the destruction of dogs—the law redeems its old reputation—and a tip is given to Chief Heatley.

By H. B. W.

THE EMINENT Nipper, happily the little first dog, has been in disgrace. He fell in love, he got into a fight with some other dog over the affection of a lady, he lost his collar with the tag on it and finally he ended up in the city pound. So we have just paid our first visit to the pound. Of all the city's grisly institutions, including even the domicile of the little white bear at Beacon Hill, the pound is by far the worst. That is to say, the pound itself is quite clean and comfortable for the imprisoned dogs and seems to show that the poundkeeper knows his business and does his job well. But the pound is so carefully hidden away on a wharf below a row of old warehouses that it takes you an hour to find it. Unless you are a very determined dog owner indeed you will never bother to find it at all.

MY AFFECTION for Nipper was not sufficient to make me return to the hunt after one failure, but the little girl next door made such lamentation over his loss that I went back again and finally found the place. Of course, it was closed and a sign said it was only open from 8 to 4 in the afternoon. On the whole, judging by its secret location on the garbage wharf, near the loaded scows of city garbage, and the fact that it is open only an hour a day, I should say that the pound is designed to discourage people from removing their dogs. It was evidently arranged by some civic dignitary long ago, who had a fierce and inhuman hatred of dogs and was determined that when any of them fell into civic hands they should never see their homes again.

ANYWAY, I finally got to the pound in time to see Nipper from execution on the morrow, for they keep the dogs only a week and then destroy them. Nipper was all right. He had been well fed by the good poundkeeper but he was very lonely and I think he would have eaten us up with delight if he had been bigger. Nipper was all right, but what of the other pound prisoners? There were three of them, the smallest number the poundkeeper had seen in there for months, a fine collie, a little black spaniel and a curious fellow who looked half Irish terrier and half bulldog.

THESE THREE unfortunates shoved their muzzles through the bars, stood up on their hind legs, whined and licked our hands and begged to be released. Happily, Nipper keeps our hands full out our way and we could not take them. The poundkeeper said they had been there six days now and their owners had not bothered to look for them. "People don't destroy pups when they're born," he said, "and they grow up and then they don't want to pay a license for them. So finally they come here. But it's kind of hard to destroy them when you get a pretty one like that spaniel there."

The little black spaniel peered up at him with those sad, soft eyes that only spaniels have, and with a look which might even melt the heart of a poundkeeper. To-morrow, said the poundkeeper, the collie, the spaniel and the Irish bulldog would have to be destroyed and here they were wagging their tails at us, begging us to take them home. Without knowing the alternative, that awaited them, I suppose by now they have been buried, if, indeed, it is the custom of the callous-hearted corporation to accord them even that final decency.

I SOMETIMES think the city would be much better off if their owners, who let them come to this, were destroyed and the dogs allowed to go free. After all, the dogs have done no harm to anyone, but the owners have been guilty of betraying creatures which trusted them. Anyway, if you need a dog, telephone the pound, inquire your way there and you can take your choice for $1. You will have the satisfaction of knowing, at least, that you have saved one life from the clutches of the corporation.

SOME FELLOW with imagination recently invented a concentrated form of grape juice which is being sold in the United States in bricks. Now of course nobody wants grape juice in bricks for use as grape juice, but millions want it for the purpose of making their own wine. But the company marketing the bricks of grape juice is a very clever fellow who has violated the prohibition law. It sends with each brick, elaborate directions for avoiding any felony of this sort. It warns the purchaser of the brick that he must not dissolve it in a certain quantity of water, that he must not allow it to stand for a fixed number of days, that he must avoid at all costs using the tubes, receptacles and other articles supplied with the brick, in doing these things, he produces wine, which would be against the law.

NOW OF course the purpose of all this is quite obvious to everybody and the prohibition enforcement officers immediately swooped down on the sellers of grape juice bricks. But here is the exquisite irony of the whole business—Col. Woodcock, the gentleman in charge of prohibition enforcement for the federal government, has ruled that the brick sellers cannot be held as violators of the prohibition law unless it can be proved that they are designedly selling a product to make alcoholic wine. To prove this, lawyers say, would be extremely difficult in the courts. This is quite likely and only goes to confirm the old opinion that the law is an ass. For just imagine what would happen if anybody who sold tools in the United States and issued detailed warnings against their use for prying open safes or breaking into houses. Or, better still, can you picture the courts freeing any gentleman who carelessly denounced the idea of a violent Communist revolution, told hungry people just what they must not do in order to produce it and gave them weapons with strict injunctions not to shoot the rich?

CHIEF OF POLICE Heatley says he will use no stool pigeons to detect crime but will rely on his detectives. As one who fortunately knows nothing about detectives or detecting, but has had a friendly feeling for the police ever since the officers of Saanich fined me $30 for driving slightly too fast past a school, I would like to commend to the attention of Chief Heatley the system of crime detection adopted with remarkable success in Peiping, China.

In Peiping, the other day, General Pea Yu-lin, commissioner of safety, inspected 199 detectives who had been disguised as beggars, pedlars, water coolies, passants and what-not. General Pea Yu-lin, though he knew all the detectives by name, was unable to identify one of them. But at the end of the line he discovered that a detective named Han was not present. When he asked what had happened to Detective Han, the captain of detectives bowed humbly and apologized. "Detective Han," he said, "came for his last disguise as a garbage collector. He smelled so successfully that we were obliged to turn him from the door. There is much that Chief Heatley could learn from the heathen Chinese."

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES,
AUGUST 28, 1906
(From The Times Files)

The council of the new Oak Bay municipality held their regular meeting last evening, at which there was a full attendance. Business of importance was transacted, including the passing of a number of by-laws affecting the district.

The work of removing a number of the salmon traps in the straits has commenced. Probably half the number which have been operated during the past season will be pulled up or abandoned, that is to say, in the latter instance owners will not take the trouble of clearing away the piles. Of course the sites will not be abandoned, but will be built upon again next spring.

There was a full attendance at last night's meeting of the city council, the mayor occupying the chair. Outside the water question, very little business of importance was transacted.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Light or moderate winds, fair and warm during the day, to-day and Wednesday.

To-day the steamer Twickenham, which stranded on the rocks near Friday Harbor, San Juan Island, on Thursday night, is at Esquimalt with the Salvor alongside pumping water out of her hold. She is in a position convenient to the drydock once the necessary arrangements can be made for her accommodation.

"SCOTS WHA HAE!"

To the Editor—Press dispatches after the King of Siam opened the annual Scottish carnival at Banff yesterday with great eclat, hoisting the flag of St. Andrew of Scotland, while massed bands of pipers played "The Campbells Are Coming" and somebody sang "Scots, Wha Hae." But the story said nothing about the sacred White Elephant and the Siamese Twins. The twins, I believe, are dead, but the white elephant lives forever. It should have been there. What possibly could have been a more arresting feature of the ceremony yesterday than, for instance, the spectacle of a Siamese white elephant dressed in kilts, waving with its trunk the flag of St. Andrew, crowned with a bowl of haggis, and bearing on its back a piper playing "The Campbells Are Coming?"

SIR HALL CAINE SLIGHTLY BETTER. Douglas, Isle of Man, Aug. 28.—Sir Hall Caine, British novelist, who has been seriously ill, was reported to be slightly better to-day after passing a fair night. His physician said his heart condition was improving.

REFUSED DOLLAR RAISE; BECAME HEAD OF FIRM

Woman President of $12,000,000 Brooklyn Gas Company Tells of Rise

New York, N.Y., Aug. 28.—Refused a $1 a week raise twenty-eight years ago, Mary Dillon stepped out and made herself president of the $12,000,000 Brooklyn Gas Company. Just to prove that women can make good in business, she explained to-day.

It took a little time after she had quit her job passing out bathing suits in a Coney Island bathhouse. First she became "sort of office boy" for the gas company. Then in 1915, after twenty-two years of steady promotions, she was made president of the firm.

She advises other women ambitious for a successful business career to get married and go to work.

Once married, she said: "They aren't then so preoccupied with the man question. A career in itself can't satisfy a woman emotionally, and a business woman with an unhappy life carries over her emotional upsets to her work."

ACTRESS SUING LINERS' OWNERS

Claims $500,000 From Matson and Dollar Lines For Alleged Imprisonment

Seattle, Aug. 28.—Edith Hanson, who at one time acted the part of Tondelayo in the play, "White Cargo," yesterday filed suit for $500,000 damages in Superior Court against the Matson Navigation Company, the Dollar Steamship Lines, its Seattle district passenger agent, L. J. Lancaster, and Margaret Hamilton, Seattle representative of the Travelers' Aid Society. The complaint charged false imprisonment aboard the Matson liner Malolo and the Dollar liner President Taft, accused agents of the Dollar Lines of striking her and giving her opiates against her will, and asserted that she landed here last fall. Lancaster and Miss Hamilton caused her detention in the city jail and city hospital. The trouble started, the plaintiff said, when she sued the Matson company and its subsidiary, the Territorial Hotel Company Limited at Honolulu, Hawaii, for breach of a contract by which she was to be the hostess and publicity writer at their Moana Hotel. Miss Hanson charged she was locked in a stateroom aboard the Malolo and taken to Yokohama, where she was transferred to the President Taft and brought here after the Japanese liner Taiyo Maru had refused to take her from the Malolo for passage to Seattle.

YOUR BABY and MINE

Mrs. Sided will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

CUP DRINKING REQUIRES PATIENT, INGENIOUS TRAINING

The hungry baby. The over-anxious mother. The cup of milk. Baby taking one eager sip, then pushing it away in disgust. The pleading. The blithe air, making gleamy, with which the mother again brings forward this fascinating fluid. The unmistakable energy with which baby refuses to have anything more to do with it.

One could continue in this Alice Frankforter style indefinitely, building up a very easily recognized situation. The baby who willingly embraces milk drinking by cup is sadly in the minority, while his little brothers and sisters who will have none of it, except flavored in the old familiar way with warm rubber and leaking merrily into the old mouth, bit by bit, are everywhere.

MOTHER WORRIED, BABY HUNGRY

Mrs. H. E. W. presents that problem. "I have your cup-feeding leaflet and I have manipulated the cup to the extent that baby takes his orange and water by cup. In fact, he has used a cup since he was a tiny baby. He is now thirteen and one-half months old and for the last few months I have been trying to give him his milk by cup, but with no success. "At first I just let a day or two go by without any milk by bottle, but this time I have tried in vain for exactly one week. I give him his milk in exactly the same cup from which he gets his water, but as soon as he tastes it he refuses another swallow. "I pour some milk over his cereal, but if it is too thin he won't eat it. He takes one spoonful of pudding or custard and no more. He won't eat vegetables with white sauce on them. I have really lost patience this past week, as he has been so cross and I know he is hungry after a week of this. All the milk he gets is eight ounces by bottle at bedtime. I believe that after I discontinue the bottle, I shall have to find another food to take the place of milk. How about cocoa?"

OUTWITTING THE INFANT

A week isn't long enough, in this case, to crystallize the habit. Don't be discouraged. There are still some tricks left for which the baby may "fall." Give an ounce of milk by cup and the rest by bottle, then two ounces by cup, then three and so on. Use another type of utensil, not the same cup from which he expects orange juice or water. A light, easily-held glass or a tiny cup over which baby can easily fit his mouth, is a nice one to use.

Try buttermilk. This is an entirely different tasting fluid and if made of whole milk it is as nourishing as sweet milk. Either buttermilk or sweet milk should be cold. Warm milk is not an appetizing drink. Milk flavored with a teaspoon of prune or peach, or pineapple juice, is interesting. If he doesn't take junket or custard with enjoyment, let him manipulate the spoon himself. He will find that a much more exciting pastime than opening his mouth and having the food spooned in by mother. Cook the cereal with all milk; that gets an appreciable amount into the youngie's stomach.

Always offer the cup first while the appetite is raring. Never say die. He is certain to learn this new habit. He learns all others, by patient training.

FINE COLLECTION OF ARTS, CRAFTS TORONTO FAIR

Sixteen "Old Masters" Included in Canadian National Exhibition

Pottery By Miss Emily Carr of Victoria Among Crafts Shown

Toronto, Aug. 28.—The art show which was opened to-day to the public at the Canadian National Exhibition is far removed from the atmosphere of a fair. Fred S. Haine, the art commissioner, has tried hard to get away from the display of "gift shop" pictures. Besides the serious collections of British and Canadian painting, sculpture and prints, the art show includes some sixteen old masters. Especially fine in this group is "Market Square, Venice," by Canaletto, an Italian master who lived between the years of 1697 and 1768. Visitors who find this picture a bit too high-brow will be compensated for their visit to the gallery in the enormous phospor portrait of His Majesty King George V. by Arthur Lindsay, which is exhibited in a glass case. This portrait is a distorted representation of His Majesty, but seen by reflection on the curved surface of a small speculum at appears regular and in correct proportion.

A landscape with figures, by Solomon Van Rudebeck, detached from the main group and shown in the second fine arts building, dominates the gallery where it hangs and lends a rare dignity and distinction. This master belongs to the brilliant Dutch school of the seventeenth century. Among the notable names included in this collection, there are Rembrandt, Tintoretto, Van Dyck and other less known but remarkable painters as well.

A very excellent group of photographs is also displayed in the graphic arts building, and a very fine collection of English pottery and jewelry. A small exhibit of Canadian craftwork completes the display. For more crafts one must go to the rooms occupied by the League of Women's Art Association. The exhibition arranged by Miss Jane Ortram secretary of the organization, represents crafts from practically every province in the Dominion. Outstanding in the showing are the tapestries by Mrs. M. Anderson Dale of Winnipeg, plant-dyed and hand-spun rugs and homespun from Quebec are also shown.

Pottery by Emily Carr of British Columbia and hand embroidery from Regina, Saskatchewan are happy additions to the display. All throughout the exhibition days, there will be demonstrations of various craft works.

B.C. Softball Finals Will Open Here On September 5

Jokers Will Seek Provincial Title For Third Season

Champions of Victoria and Island Will Oppose Mainland Titleholders in Best Two-out-of-three-game Series; Second Game Scheduled for Labor Day on Mainland; Royal Athletic Park Expected to Be Scene of Game Here; Jokers Have Well-balanced Club

In their third successive attempt to capture the British Columbia softball championship, the Jokers, champions of Victoria and Vancouver Island, will meet the mainland titleholders in the first of a best two-out-of-three-game series, here on Saturday, September 5. The second game will be played at either Vancouver or New Westminster on Labor Day, September 7.

An effort will be made to play the game here at the Royal Athletic Park. The Jokers have been playing their games on the diamond at the Victoria West Park, but these grounds are in a deplorable condition, and not fit for such an important fixture. With the baseball season completed and the footbalers not due to get started for several weeks yet, there appears no reason why the softbalbers should not have the use of the Royal Athletic.

On Wednesday evening the Jokers earned the right to represent Vancouver Island in the B.C. final by defeating Dundas, Island champions, 11 to 8. These two clubs put on a bit of a tough fight. In the first game they played to an eleven-inning tie while the Jokers won the second played up-Island after two extra innings, and then captured the third and the title.

THREE IN A ROW

For three years in a row the Jokers, who play in the Westholme League, have won their league championship, and then the Victoria city honors. In meeting the mainland titleholders in the provincial final, they have as yet been unsuccessful in their quest of the title. Last season the Jokers opposed the Canadian Bakeries in the B.C. series, and were beaten in two straight games.

The mainlanders have not yet named their champions. In Vancouver the Canadian Bakeries and Firemen are playing off for the title, while in New Westminster the champions in the mainland final, the winner to meet the Jokers.

The Jokers have a smart, snappy club and stand a good chance of bringing the B.C. title to Victoria. Louis De Costa and Lloyd Jones will do the pitching for them. The remainder of the team follows: Catcher, Banks; first base, Munroe; second base, Barnes; shortstop, Younan; third base, Wagland; left field, MacKenzie; centre field, Sweeney; right field, Carmichael; and relief, Smith, Baggis and Wallace.

Wilson was substituted to-day for Butcher Jones, and no doubt the switch will be welcomed by Victoria fans. In the other half of the double main event Axel Anderson, New York, will tangle with Cowboy Ray, Omaha.

The first bout will commence at 8.45 o'clock.

Wilson, who is a protégé of that great little wrestler, Gus Sonnenberg, has been in the mat game for only a short time. He is a big fellow, in wonderful condition, and is another exponent of the flying tackle. He was one of the most popular football players on the Pacific Coast, and is proving just as popular in the squared circle. Wilson has already met several first class men and may prove a tough proposition for Brooks.

WEST BROMWICH MEETS ARSENAL IN MAIN MATCH

League Champions and Cup-holders Clash as English Football Season Opens

All First, Second and Third Division Clubs in Action; Number of Changes

London, Aug. 28.—Association football makes its 1931-32 bow in England on Saturday, when all the divisions of the football league will be in action. Scotland, as usual, has opened up earlier and has already seen three sets of Saturday matches and a number of midweek fixtures.

On Saturday a real treat has been provided English fans in the match at Highbury, between the Arsenal, league champions, and West Bromwich Albion, cup winners last season and one of the clubs promoted from the Second Division. Everton, the other promoted club in the First Division, will meet Birmingham, runners-up in the cup series, at Goodison Park.

FOUR NEW CLUBS

The Second Division will see four new clubs in action as a result of demotions and promotions. Leeds United and Manchester United have to go down, while North County and Chesterfield, which also contains Mansfield, previously a strong non-league club.

Newport County, a bottom club in the Southern Division standing last season, has dropped out. Chesterfield's place in the Northern Section has been taken by Chester.

Firpo Anxious To Get Another Scrap With Jack Dempsey

Buenos Aires, Aug. 28.—Jack Dempsey's resumption of pugilistic activities has aroused the fighting fever anew of Luis Angel Firpo, who figured in the sensational heavyweight championship with Dempsey in 1923 in New York. Firpo, now weighing 260 pounds, reports he has done some road work, and adds:

"I will be in condition if Dempsey wants a return match."

Retzlaff-Sekyra Fight Postponed

New York, Aug. 28.—Threatening weather yesterday evening caused the second successive postponement of the Charley Retzlaff-Joe Sekyra heavyweight bout at the Queensboro Stadium. Weather permitting, they will meet in ten rounds next Tuesday.

Jack Dempsey To Tackle Lomski In Bout on Labor Day

Reno, Nev., Aug. 28.—Jack Dempsey will meet Joe Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., heavyweight, in a four-round bout here, Labor Day. Lomski, weighing around 175 pounds, campaigned in the light-heavy class for several years and at one time was ranked with the leaders of the division. Dempsey accepted the Aberdeen mauler as an opponent in a telegram received from Seattle. The former champion is on a barnstorming tour, appearing in exhibition bouts.

The Difference—You are improving wonderfully as a dancer. Don't you remember how you used to tear my dresses? Young husband—Yes, I wasn't buying them then.

OVER EIGHTY ENTRIES HAVE BEEN RECEIVED FOR CITY GOLF PLAY

At noon to-day over eighty entries had been received for the city amateur golf championships, which will get under way on Sunday at the Colwood Golf Club with the thirty-six-hole qualifying round. Walter Parry, secretary of the Colwood club, who is handling the entries, stated he expected the list to be over the 100-mark, by closing time at 3 o'clock this afternoon. All the big guns of local golf have entered and a rattling good tournament is anticipated. Harold Brynjolfson, Uplands, will defend his title. Brynjolfson recently returned from Montreal, where he took part in the Canadian amateur championship. The draw for the qualifying round will be made late this afternoon.

Mrs. George Lott Seeking Divorce

Philadelphia, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Abigail Stapleford Allen Lott, who eloped last October with George Lott, tennis star, yesterday filed suit for divorce. No grounds for the action were included in the papers filed.

Mrs. Lott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Allen of Abington, made her debut in 1926 at a dance. She was twenty-one years old when she eloped with the tennis star whom she met while visiting at the home of Pitts E. Dixon, captain of the Davis Cup team at the time, and Mrs. Dixon.

Lott, who is twenty-four, listed his address as Chicago in the marriage application. He is in the advertising business when not playing tennis.

Eighteen of his lieutenants also were sentenced to death.

Vines and Gledhill Lose to Barnes and Sutter in U.S. Doubles Tennis

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 28.—Striking a deadly mixture of lobs and drives, Bruce Barnes, Austin, Texas, and Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, yesterday provided the national doubles tennis tourney with its first major upset by gaining the semi-final round at the expense of Edward Vines and Keith Gledhill, the sensational Californians. The scores were 4-6, 10-8, 10-12, 8-6, 6-3.

A heavy afternoon shower fell on Johnny Doss and George Lott and halted their even battle with Sidney Wood and Frank Shields, United States Davis Cup singles pairs. As a result, the final will be put over until Monday.

Frederick J. Perry and George Patrick Hughes, the British Davis Cup pair, were overthrown by Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, last year's runners-up, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Gregory Mangin and Berkeley Bell had an easy afternoon's work as they outdistanced Edward Jacobs of Baltimore and Wilbur F. Coen Jr., Kansas City, in a straight set decision, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

Watching the Majors

Things were quiet along the big league batting front yesterday, only two of the six leaders getting into action. Chuck Klein of the Phillies had a good day, but was unable to gain a point on the leader, Virgil Davis, who was idle.

Eddie Morgan of the Indians lost a point when he made only one hit in four attempts against St. Louis.

Dick Coffman Lasts Just Two Innings In Clash With Cleveland

Young Right-hand Pitcher of St. Louis Browns, Who Robbed Lefty Grove of a New American League Pitching Mark, Blasted From Box Yesterday by Indians; Detroit Wins Only Other American League Game; Whitney's Home Run in Eighth Gives Phillies Win Over Cincinnati; Cubs Break Even

Dick Coffman, ambitious young right-hander of the St. Louis Browns, stopped Lefty Grove last Sunday when Connie Mack's star needed only one more victory to set an American League mark for consecutive victories. It is sad to relate what happened to Coffman his next time out, which was yesterday.

Facing the Cleveland Indians, the Alabamian lasted two innings, in which he was hammered for eight hits and six runs and generally manhandled. Up to that time, he had started, finished and won four straight games, two of them shutouts. Within that time the other members of the Browns' staff had been able to win only three games between them, which give an idea how well Dick was doing. But he had to go and beat Lefty Grove.

As a result of their explosive start at Coffman's expense, the Indians went on to win without half trying, 11 to 1. Wes Ferrell, who has recovered fully from the effects of his no-hit, no-run game earlier in the year against the same Browns, gave up only four hits, two of them by Irving Brown. He also delivered two hits, drove in three runs and scored twice. Earl Averill hit his twenty-eighth home run of the year in the second inning with two on base.

DETROIT WINS EASILY

In the day's only other American League game, the Detroit Tigers pounded five Chicago White Sox pitchers for fifteen hits and a 9 to 4 victory. Stone and Richardson led the assault, each with three hits. Vic Sorrell went the distance for the winners. Elnor Whangy, Phillie third baseman, was the day's hero in the National League. Coming up in the eighth inning with the score tied, he planted one of Kopl's offerings in the left field bleachers to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 5. Estel Crabtree had hit one for the Reds in the sixth inning with one on.

The Chicago Cubs produced one of the year's prize rallies to divide a double header with Pittsburgh. After losing the first 3 to 2, when Glenn Spencer set them down with four hits, they came back to score eight runs in the eighth inning of the nightcap and win it, 11 to 4. Brame paved the way for his downfall by walking Euglie to open the eighth. The next seven Cubs hit safely before Osborn managed to quiet the uprising. English had a perfect day, with two singles, a double, a triple and a walk in the two games.

Four other National League clubs were not scheduled.

Late Strawberries And B.C. Lambs Now on Market

Everbearing strawberries are coming in from Hanes district and selling at $3.50 per crate, the Department of Agriculture's report to-day says. Blackberries at $1.00 per crate. Peaches are quoted at $1.75 to $2.00. A car of Okanagan peaches will be on the market Monday. Pears, fancy, $2.75 and "C" grade, $2.50 per box. Plums, Bradshaw, Greengage, etc., were selling at $1.25 to $1.50. Apples, Okanagan Wealthy, jumble pack, $1.75. Local apples from $1.00 to $2.50, according to quality. Canteloupes are selling from $2.50 to $4.75, according to size. Potatoes are quoted at 90c to $1.00 per 100 pounds. Carrots at $1.25 per sack. The above are wholesale prices.

British Columbia lambs are coming on the market superior to previous years and about three weeks earlier according to packers. This has been due largely to the educational campaign put on during 1930 by the Division of Animal Industry and the Markets Division of the Department of Agriculture. This campaign suggested to the sheepmen the advantage of flushing of ewes, early breeding, careful wintering, with docking, castrating and dipping. Breeders who have followed out these suggestions, and put a good product on the market early in the season, have been rewarded by receiving high returns and those who are favorably situated should prepare to breed at once.

NO CADETS FOR ESQUIMALT NOW

Expenses of Having Corps Make It Out of Question, School Trustees Say

There will be no cadet training in the Esquimalt schools this year. It was decided at the meeting of the school board of the municipality yesterday evening. The trustees stated they were unable to see their way clear to meeting the extra expense entailed in this department and instructed the secretary to write the cadet authorities informing them of their decision.

The tender of the Western Steel Products Ltd. for repairing the Lampson Street School furnaces at a cost of $225, was accepted.

A letter from the General Accident Company of Canada, with headquarters in Vancouver, urging the board to protect itself in case of accident to children during school hours was received and filed.

In reply to a communication from A. Cross, South Pender Island, who had asked the board to consider reducing the fee charged for sending outside students to the Esquimalt High School, the trustees instructed the secretary to inform him that his own district was partly responsible for raising the money to send his children in to school when there was no suitable institution in the adjoining district.

CUTS MUST BE VOLUNTARY
Possibility of making further savings in the school budget this year was discussed. The chairman of the board was emphatic in his statement that unless the teachers voluntarily submitted to a reduction in their salary the board could not enforce one. Trustee Mrs. James Ibbister was named a delegate to the convention of B.C. School Trustees' Association, to be held in Chilliwack on September 21, 22 and 23. No expenses were voted.

GLANDS TO BE SPECIAL STUDY

American Chemical Society to Take Steps Towards Synthetic Hormones

By Howard W. Blakeslee, Associated Press Science Editor
Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 28.—Another step toward the time when science hopes to repair man's vital organs with synthetic substitutes for damaged functions will be taken at the meeting of the American Chemical Society set to begin here next Monday.

This step will be a joint study by physicians and chemists of the endocrine glands, the organs which regulate the body all the way from its production of energy to its rate of aging. The study will be made in a symposium held jointly by the divisions of medicinal chemistry and biological chemistry.

The endocrine glands secrete substances called hormones, which medical men use not only in various types of illness, but in daring attempts to control obesity and the size to which a person may grow.

The secretions usually are obtained from animals, whose endocrine glands correspond closely to those of human beings. The chemists' role—the next step—is to synthesize the hormones, to make them up artificially in the laboratory. The synthetic stuff has advantages in treating human health. It is easier to keep free of impurities which often are found in the animal extracts. Its strength can be controlled more accurately, which is important because of the exceeding potency of hormones.

The principal endocrine now recognized include the pituitary gland, a pea-sized organ in the head, controlling gigantism, dwarfism, certain types of obesity and apparently master-regulator over some of the sex glands. In the neck is the thyroid gland, with limited control over weight and over some mental diseases. The pancreas, digestive aid, causes diabetes when its hormone flow goes wrong. The adrenal gland, source of the explosive energy that carries a man through a sudden crisis, and the various sex glands are other endocrines.

Vernon, B.C., Aug. 28.—The weather has changed and some refreshing showers have fallen. The rainfall in the south end of the valley was more persistent than in the north, this will develop high coloring of fall apples. The movement of fruit and vegetables has been exceptionally heavy. During the month, 500 cars have been reported to the Bureau of Markets, all originating in the valley. There were sixty-nine straight cars of produce and 431 mixed cars. About 150 more have been shipped from the mainline points, from Ashcroft to Kamloops. The demand up to now has been slightly below the supply in all but a few commodities, and prices, though low, have been steady.

Unusual Veterans' Event at Toronto

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Members of opposing armies of the Great War may march side by side in the Warriors' Day parade at the Canadian National Exhibition here Saturday if the request of a group of Austrians and Czechoslovakians is granted. The men, who served the central European powers during the war, are now market gardeners at Richmond Hill, north of Toronto, desire to show their appreciation of the new country in which they have settled by joining in the parade on Warriors' Day. John Peslar, spokesman for the party, made known their wishes to Lieutenant William Guy Carr of the Naval Reserve, who has forwarded it to the military authorities.

AT THE THEATRES

COLISEUM THEATRE

One of the "high lights" in "Plunder," which is being shown to-day at the Coliseum Theatre, is the Scotland Yard scene, which is said to poke fun at the British police idea of the third degree. That scene was "shot" between 3 and 4 o'clock one morning after Tom Walls and his company had been in the studio since 10 o'clock the previous morning—eighteen hours.

Several scenes had been shot during the day and although acting had become very difficult Tom Walls insisted that the scene should be completed before they left. It was, he says, really a case of flogging tired horses, but it succeeded and the scene is admittedly the best in the picture.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Dramatist Frederick Lonsdale reveals a hidden side of Ronald Colman's character in the star's latest picture, "The Devil to Pay," which is showing at the Columbia Theatre to-day. Ronald Colman is thought by casual acquaintances to be cold and forbidding—the very opposite of the play-boy role in which he is cast by the author of "The Devil to Pay." But even those who know him only a shadow on the screen can detect in his emotional make-up the kindness, cheerful, happy-go-lucky, witty, worry temperament that he portrays so well in his latest production.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

"Ho, hum, the first fifty years are the hardest." And Bert Woodruff wasn't kidding when he said it. For he has been trouping for almost sixty years and says he's just beginning to enjoy himself.

"After fifty years you begin to take things easy," the old actor said. "Nothing is work to you and things don't seem so bothersome any more." Woodruff, seventy-five years old, plays his latest role as Tink in "Laughing Sinners," a Crawford new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle which is now at the Playhouse Theatre with Neil Hamilton and Clark Gable in leading supporting parts.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Apparently audiences are turning away from the so called true-to-life dramas for these pictures with clean laughter and honest heart interest. At any rate there is sufficient basis for this belief in the large audience.

Where To Go To-night

An Advertised

ON THE SCREEN

Capitol—"Mother's Millions," with May Robson.

Coliseum—"Plunder," British International Picture.

Columbia—Ronald Colman in "Devil to Pay."

Dominion—Ruth Chatterton in "The Magnificent Lie."

Playhouse—"Laughing Sinners," with Joan Crawford.

Crystal Garden—Swimming, Dancing and Miniature Golf.

That found "Mother's Millions," at the Capitol Theatre yesterday evening, thoroughly enjoyable and entertaining.

This picture from the original stage play of the same name by Howard Kent Barnes, is delightfully enacted by a splendid cast headed by May Robson, who won fame on the legitimate stage in the same role. Others in the cast are James Hall, Frances Dade, Lawrence Gray and Edmund Brees.

DOMINION THEATRE

"The Magnificent Lie," a story of a great love growing out of a strange deception, is Ruth Chatterton's latest starring picture. It was adapted from Leonard Merrick's popular novel, "Laurels and the Lady," and Berthold Viertel directed it for Paramount.

"The Magnificent Lie," now showing at the Dominion Theatre for three days, has three chief points of interest in addition to the unusual plot. It comes as a new addition to the list of outstanding Chatterton dramas, which already includes "Sarah and Son," "Anybody's Woman," "The Right to Love" and "Unfaithful." It introduces Stuart Erwin in a role in which his laugh-making talents are turned to dramatic importance. It brings forward a new leading man, Ralph Bellamy, long a favorite on stock stages, recently a Broadway star.

COMING TO DOMINION

Photographing a torchlight procession by its own light was one of the interesting feats accomplished in the filming of "Politica," Marie Dressler's first Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring picture, which will come Saturday to the Dominion Theatre.

By use of the new super-sensitive film the torches carried by several hundred women in the "parade," led by Miss Dressler and Polly Moran, were photographed to perfection with an amazing effect of realism.

The new picture is a comedy drama of political life. Miss Dressler plays a woman who, aroused by civic conditions, organizes the women's vote and runs for mayor in the town, with the energetic Miss Moran as her campaign manager.

FRUIT GROWERS ASK AID FROM GOVERNMENT

Canadian Press

Vernon, B.C., Aug. 28.—Claiming the provincial government is not giving the fruit and vegetable industries the treatment their importance warrants, R. H. MacDonald, president, and the members of the executive of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association are planning to place their case before the government.

In discussing the loss of the annual grant at a meeting on Wednesday, R. H. MacDonald said the government of British Columbia was making no grant to the official body, while the Ontario government made a grant of more than $5,000 to the industries and the Nova Scotia government more than $3,000, yet the value of the British Columbia crop was more than those of Ontario and Nova Scotia combined.

BANFF HIGHLAND GATHERING WELL UNDER WAY NOW

Scottish Dances, Songs and Other Contests Hold Sway at Mountain Resort

Banff, Alta., Aug. 28.—Dancing before the King and Queen of Siam and in competition with twenty-seven boys and girls under ten years of age, Jessie Mathieson, daughter of Pipe-Major Mathieson, of the Canadian Legion, Los Angeles, won the competition for the Highland fling at the opening of the fifth annual Highland gathering and Scottish music festival here yesterday. Last week ten-year-old Jessie won three first prizes in Scottish dancing at Trail, B.C. She carries home with her a silver cup eighteen inches in height, bearing the names of two other little girls who have won the competition at previous gatherings, and the gold medal of the Banff Highland gathering. Jessie Mathieson, whose home is in San Pedro, will be one of the contestants at the Olympic games next year in Los Angeles.

PIPING EVENTS

Banff, Aug. 28.—In the opening piping events of the Banff Highland gathering, Edmonton pipers captured nine out of fifteen prizes to-day. Vancouver pipers gained two firsts, Moncton one first, Hamilton, Ontario, one second, Seattle, Wash. one third, Revelstoke, B.C. one third, and Edmonton, two firsts, four seconds and three thirds. Pipe-Major MacKinnon of Montreal was awarded first in the Piobairchead, Billy Armstrong, Vancouver, first in the marches and in the strathspeys and reels for boys between twelve and sixteen years of age, and Robert Stoker of Edmonton captured first places in the same for boys between sixteen and twenty-one years of age. Norman MacKinnon of Hamilton was second in the Piobairchead and Douglas MacFarlane of Seattle, Wash., third. In the Highland dancing events Vancouver entrants came to the fore by winning three first, four seconds and four thirds, a total of eleven prizes. Edmonton won one second and one third, Winnipeg two firsts and one third, Transcona one first, San Pedro, Calif., one first and Calgary two seconds.

SCOTTISH AIRS

Banff, Aug. 28.—Scottish loyalty to the pipe and the tartan burst all controls like a fire before a powerful gale when yesterday evening in the Banff Springs Hotel ballroom, Robert Burnett, Madam Jeanne Dussan and the Scottish concert with the long loved "Scots Wha Hae." The well-balanced programme included an overture of favorite Scottish airs played by the Banff Springs Hotel quartet, Scottish choruses by the Hotel "Crusaders" and suites of Scotch songs by Robert Burnett, Madam Jeanne Dussan and John Deacon, all of which were enthusiastically applauded, although encores were necessarily prohibited. The second half of the programme was the ballad opera, "Prince Charming," with libretto by J. E. Middleton and musical settings by Dr. Ernest MacMillan of Toronto Conservatory.

ROYAL OPENING

Banff, Aug. 28.—Immediately following introduction by Lieutenant-Governor Walsh of Alberta, and while thousands cheered lustily His Majesty King George VI. of Siam walked to the flagpole and hoisted to its peak the flag of St. Andrew. Thus yesterday afternoon was the first annual Highland gathering and Scottish music festival opened officially by royalty.

Shortly before 2 o'clock the pipers massed band, led by a detachment of mounted police and followed by row upon row of Highland dancers, formed in parade lines in the courtyard of the Banff Springs Hotel. Then with their Majesties the King and Queen of Siam and their suite in cars the procession marched to the hotel athletic grounds. As the royal visitors entered the arena her majesty was presented with a bouquet by one of the finest of Highland dancers.

With their majesties on the platform were Lieutenant-Governor Walsh of Alberta, Mrs. Walsh and their son, Lee Walsh, ex-Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta and Mrs. Egbert; Banff National Park Superintendent Major P. J. Jennings, representing the Canadian government, and the members of their majesties suite.

During the concert that followed the official opening, Piper William Campbell of New Westminster mounted the platform and played for their majesties. Piper Campbell thereby realized a long ambition as in 1894, when the present king's father visited England, Campbell was special piper to Her Majesty Queen Victoria, and so played before King Chungkingkong.

FISHERMEN LOSE LIVES

Washington, Aug. 28.—Lightning killed two men at Chesapeake Beach, a resort near here, yesterday evening, while they were fishing from a pier. They were Charles Almsworth, thirty-eight, of Wilmington, Del., and William Newmeyer, forty-five, of Washington.

Three Theatres In Chicago Bombed

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Three theatres whose owners recently substituted eastern motion picture operators for those of the local union were bombed shortly after last midnight. One of the bombs caused slight injuries to two small children who were thrown from their beds in an apartment building across the alley.

WARM WEATHER AS HOLIDAYS APPROACH END

Fine Days Predicted; School Children's Vacation Draws to Close

With fine, dry weather driving up the mercury, the thermometer was expected to register well over eighty this afternoon, after having reached seventy-six shortly before 10 o'clock to-day.

Continued warm weather with lots of sunshine were predicted for the next day or two all over the province.

Conditions generally in British Columbia were reported to be improved by F. Napier Denison. But while the warmth of the sun brought joy to the hearts of young school children finishing up their summer holidays, it added further menace to the threat of forest fire throughout British Columbia.

Termination of Holidays Will Send 6,000 Boys and Girls Back to Studies Tuesday

Exhibition Holiday on Wednesday and Labor Day Will Give Brief Respite

The joyousness of summer to the youth of the city will fade into the dim recesses of a glorious holiday well spent on Tuesday when nearly 6,000 boys and girls will go back to their studies at school.

Already the youngsters of Victoria are being forcibly reminded of the approaching termination of the holidays by placards in the store windows advertising the fact that the "back-to-the-school movement" is on.

Some, perhaps, are taking the news pleasantly, even eagerly, displaying keenness to enhance their knowledge, while others are, temporarily at least, downcast by the gloomy thought of disciplined effort hovering about.

Although the warm sunshine is still calling to the untrammelled open spaces the edict of the educational department must be obeyed, and consequently on Tuesday the registration teachers will have a busy day.

When the schools were closed for the holidays at the end of June there were 5,898 students in attendance at the graded schools and the high school, it was stated to-day by W. F. C. Pope, secretary of the school board. There were 4,568 pupils in the graded schools of the city and 1,310 in the high school.

It is not expected there will be any decrease in school attendance with the opening of the new term, despite the fact that seventy-five students from Saanich will be lost to the high school now that high schools have been established in the adjoining municipality.

The four-year plan at the high school in observance of the anniversary of their studies, while in the public schools many children who have celebrated their sixth birthday will expire the elementary school term.

The scholars will be given a holiday on Wednesday next, it is expected, when the mayor will declare a civic holiday in observance of the exhibition, and Labor Day on September 7 will cause another break in study.

CHIROPY ACT QUESTIONED IN COURT ACTION

Right to Use Term "Foot Specialist" in Advertising Disputed

Judgment was reserved this morning until Wednesday by Magistrate George Jay in a case under the Chiropody Act in which it was claimed James W. Maynard, who is advertising himself as a "foot specialist" in newspaper advertising, had no right to use the term "foot specialist" in newspaper advertising.

Frank Higgins, K.C., conducted the prosecution launched by Jacob Gorosh, Winnipeg, secretary of the Canadian School of Chiropody, and the Young Women's Christian Association, which is in the process of removing the wooden structure facing on Courtney Street.

The pulling down of this building, which served as the original Y.W.C.A. headquarters at the site, will make way for a handsome new fireproof wing. Work is to be started on the ground that it was opposed to the provisions of the city fire by-laws.

The initial plans of the Y.W.C.A. provided for the moving of the existing frame building to an adjoining lot to the rear of the new addition to the three-story block. Application was made to the city with a view to effecting this change, but the application was refused on the ground that it was opposed to the provisions of the city fire by-laws.

"We are figuring on costs, but will not be sure of our plans before next week," said Mrs. Arthur B. Walsh, president of the Young Women's Christian Association, to-day.

The new wing, if proceeded with, would contain more rooms than the present building, the corner of Blanchard and Courtney Streets, Mrs. Walsh said.

The plans have not yet been drawn, although it is understood that the new building will conform to the present one.

The cost of the new building will be in the neighborhood of $50,000.

FLOOD DEATHS MAY BE 3,000,000

Toll in Central China May Reach That Total Before Jan. 1 Next, Say Officials

Canadian Press
Hankow, China, Aug. 28.—A boat tour of the native section of Hankow, covered by flood waters of the Yangtze River, to-day disclosed vast areas of unbroken water where richly built-up districts had been submerged.

Hundreds of roof-dwellers are clinging precariously to their insecure perches, becoming daily more emaciated and miserable. The Yangtze River current, which cleanses the foreign quarters of the city, does not reach the native village, where the green stagnant water emits an almost unbearable stench.

The Association Press correspondent visited a building whose upper floors housed at least 5,000 refugees. It was almost impossible to walk without treading on bodies of limbs. The bottom floor of the building was submerged several feet. From every direction came moans of the aged and crying children.

MANY MORE WILL DIE

The Wuhan area, comprising the cities of Hankow, Yangtze and Wuchang, with a total population of about 1,600,000, contains only a small percentage of the flood victims. Chinese military leaders here are predicting that between 2,000,000 and 4,000,000 Chinese probably will die before the year's end.

The Wuhan area is the centre of the flood district, which extends for vast distances in every direction, covering many thousands of square miles of what once was the fertile Yangtze valley.

BUILDING FOR EIGHT MONTHS TOTALS $531,603

Fifty-one Permits Taken Out in City During August Valued at $53,598

Building undertaken in the city during the eight-month period from January 1 to August 28, show a total value of $531,603, according to figures given out to-day by James Barr, city building inspector.

It is not anticipated that the remaining three days of the month will make any material difference to the total as no large construction projects are in sight.

The figures for the eight-month period of 1930 totaled $1,474,404, due to some large construction work put under way. Taken on the whole, the activity in building this year has been on a par with the general average.

The largest contract undertaken this year was the St. Louis College on Pandora Avenue, the cost of this building being about $50,000.

Fifty-one permits have been taken out at the City Hall this month, valued at $53,598.

The largest permit was for the reconstruction of an apartment house at 1702 Quadra Street, at a cost of about $7,000.

The building during the present month does not compare favorably for August of 1930 when the total value amounted to $113,967. The permit for the remodeling of store-fronts in the Severy Building, given at $4,000, was taken out yesterday afternoon at the City Hall.

REPLACING OLD BUILDING WITH FINE NEW WING

Y.W.C.A. Invite Tenders For Removal of Original Frame Structure on Courtney St.

New Building Will More Than Double Accommodation of Women's Hostel

Preliminary to going ahead with announced plans for a new wing which will more than double the accommodation of the present building on Blanchard Street, the Young Women's Christian Association is inviting tenders from house wreckers for the removal of the old wooden structure facing on Courtney Street.

The pulling down of this building, which served as the original Y.W.C.A. headquarters at the site, will make way for a handsome new fireproof wing. Work is to be started on the ground that it was opposed to the provisions of the city fire by-laws.

What Errors Would You Avoid if You Had Your Married Life to Live Over?—Would You Take Your Husband's Shortcomings Less Seriously, Smile Instead of Nagging, Be a Lady Love Instead of a Slave?

IF YOU had your married life to live over again what mistakes would you avoid making? A group of middle-aged married women were discussing this interesting subject the other day, and one of them said: "The trouble with experience in marriage is like experience in everything else. By the time you learn what it teaches you it is too late to do you any good. You have made your blunders and upset the applecart and generally messed things up and all you can do is to gather up the fragments and make the best you can of what's left."

"Now, if I had to live my married life over again I wouldn't take marriage and expect I wouldn't take my husband so seriously. Brides are poor, pitiful things because they make such mountains out of mole hills and weep over so many things at which they should laugh. Everything is so important to them. Everything so final. Everything so significant, when, as a matter of fact, not much matters and husbands never mean a thing by what they do. They just do that way because they happen to feel like doing that way at the time."

"But you have to be forty years old and to have learned how to take marriage for granted before you find that out and realize that your husband hasn't ceased to love you because he has quit telling you about the state of his affections and that bringing home a couple of pounds of Rochfort cheese because you happen to like it is just as much an expression of romance as a bunch of orchids and that you can and should be a good wife and mother and that both husbands and children like being smothered in devotion and attentions and want to be let alone a lot."

"So if I were a bride, starting out again in marriage, I would get a lot more fun out of being married than I have. I would take it easier."

"I wouldn't always keep out my little thermometer taking the temperature of my husband's affections and trying to find out if they had gone down from fever heat to subnormal. I wouldn't beat on my breast and tear my hair when I discovered that he was just a mere man and didn't come up to my girlish dreams of a Fairy Prince. I would shut my eyes to everything I didn't want to see and I wouldn't go into fits of jealousy every time he admired a woman younger and prettier than I was."

"Oh, I would laugh off a lot of things I have shed barrels of tears over if I had to do it again."

"If I had to live my married life over again," said the second woman, "I would take my husband 'as is,' as the shipping manifests say, instead of trying to make him over according to my little paper pattern of what a husband should be. When I think about how I nagged my poor John about everything he did and didn't do and tried to alter his habits and whole mode of life and how I criticized everything about him from the way he had his hair cut to his taste in literature, I wonder that he didn't drag me to the divorce court by the hair of my head before we had been married six months."

"It took me a long time to realize how it must hurt his vanity to find that instead of admiring and looking up to him and considering him an oracle I apparently thought he was a nitwit—without even intelligence enough to know what he wanted to eat or when to carry an umbrella."

"So if I had my married life to live over again I wouldn't start out in the role of a reformer and I would leave it to somebody else to tell my husband of his faults and shortcomings and set him right about his grammar and pronunciation. I wouldn't sit in judgment on his friends and I wouldn't tell him how bad everything he liked to eat was for his indigestion and I would hand him out a brand of home-brewed adulation with such a kick to it that it would make that brewed by any other woman seem as weak and insipid as skimmed milk."

"And would we have a happy home? And would I have to worry about my husband forsaking me for a flapper? I ask you?"

"If I had to live my married life over again," said the third woman, I would be a parlor ornament instead of a doormat. The mistake I made was in not demanding anything of my husband, and as a result I have got nothing, not because my husband is intentionally unkind or neglectful but just because men always take a woman at her own valuation and if she holds herself cheaply they also hold her cheaply."

"We were poor when we married and I was ambitious for my husband to get along and anxious to help him, so I did the work of half a dozen servants and pinched every penny and went shabby and never asked anything of him in the way of attention."

"Somehow that established in his mind the idea that I couldn't be happy unless I was slaving and that I was different from other women in not wanting pretty clothes or to go to places of amusement. And now that we are rich it never occurs to my husband to make me a present or to take me out unless I badger him into doing it, and I know that he never sees me as a lady love but just as a useful domestic convenience."

"The reason that second marriages are happier than first," said another woman, "is because women bring to their second marriages the wisdom they acquired in their first."

Into the Depths of Space

AN INTERESTING TALK
Despite the fact that they had been on the planet Pala for several weeks, Paul and Marlene found it hard to believe that such people as the Palans could exist. Think of a man with two faces!

Weede, the guide, often spoke of two of the visitors at the same time, each visitor hearing words from a different mouth. The guide had only one pair of arms, but he could bend them in either direction. He had only one pair of legs, but could walk either forward or backward—in fact a person could hardly say there was "backward" in the lives of the Palans. To walk either way was "forward."

Like the rest of the natives, the great astronomer, Holan, had two faces.

"Yes," he said to Paul with a smile, "I often look through the telescopes at the same time. Thus I can do more work in a given period."

"Your sun has a blue color," said Paul.

"Yes," replied Holan, "it is different from the sun around which your earth circles. Your sun is yellowish. To have a blue sun is a curiosity."

"Have you ever looked at the earth through a telescope?"

"No, our telescopes are not large enough for us to see the earth, but we have studied two of the large planets which go around your sun. In an interview granted by Professor Richardson to one of our newspapers, it was stated that the largest planets in your solar system are Jupiter and Saturn."

"Yes," replied Paul, who was well versed in the science of astronomy, "the biggest ones are Jupiter and Saturn. There's only one moon going around the earth, but I notice that you have three moons going around this planet."

"Quite so."

"How many planets are there in your solar system?"

"Three, counting the one we are on. One of the others contains people. We

BENZOL BARRED FROM FACTORIES

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Use of benzol in Ontario factories is prohibited under an order issued by Hon. J. D. Monteth, Provincial Minister of Public Works and Labor.

"The use of benzol has been proved to the department to be injurious to the health of individuals. That fact has been demonstrated on the evidence of chemists who have investigated, and the Labor Department has prohibited the use of benzol," said Dr. Monteth yesterday.

The action was taken, he explained, under a clause of the Factory Act which provides no person shall keep a factory, shop or office building so that the safety of the persons employed therein is endangered, or so that the health of persons employed therein is likely to be injured.

RELIEF WORK STILL AWAITS OTTAWA WORD

Provincial Government Seeks Definite News Before Announcing Plans

Six Hundred to Seven Hundred Men to Start on Mainland Monday

British Columbia is still unable to announce definite plans for the relief of unemployment, because no definite decisions have been reached as the result of the joint conferences of federal and provincial governments. It was learned yesterday after the British Columbia executive council discussed the problem for two and a half hours. Municipalities are still waiting a decision of the provincial government before they know to what extent they can embark upon work programmes to take care of unemployed. The British Columbia Government is still waiting upon the federal government. Representatives of municipalities, who for months have been sending delegates to the capital with urgent appeals stressing the need of immediate action, have renewed their efforts in the last few days but the matter is still in the air.

"STILL WAITING"

At the meeting of the executive council yesterday all phases of the unemployment question were discussed, but the only announcement concerning the provincial-federal agreement was, "we are still waiting for action at Ottawa and until we have something definite to work on, we cannot make known our full plans."

Members of the cabinet learned yesterday that Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, had left Vancouver for Ottawa and that Premier R. B. Bennett was also on his way to the capital to summon a meeting of the federal cabinet to give consideration to the requests of the western provinces for immediate relief.

The provincial government still has many matters connected with relief outstanding with the federal authorities, and these cannot be adjusted without reference to Mr. Stevens and Premier Bennett. Premier Talmie has telegraphed the Dominion Premier urging a quick settlement.

Active relief operations for the unemployed in British Columbia will start Monday, Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, announced yesterday. Between 500 and 700 men will start on construction work on the North Fraser Highway, between Vancouver and Pitt River.

The work to start Monday marks the commencement of British Columbia's road programme to provide work for unemployed. Camps on the Big Bend road are being established and others will be established between Prince George and Prince Rupert, and on the Hope to Princeton route.

Another conference of the work is mapped out ready to proceed with as soon as the provincial government knows what aid the federal government will render.

The question of uniform wages for all western provinces was considered yesterday and Premier Talmie reiterated his desire for an early conference between representatives of all provinces.

While awaiting word from Ottawa, the government will continue its preliminary plans and will undertake as much construction work as can be conveniently handled.

STAGE SET FOR GREAT FAIR TO START MONDAY

Stock Parades and Horse
Shows Great Features of Exhibition

The stage is set for the opening next Monday of the greatest fair-Victoria ever seen and one of the greatest ever held in the Pacific Northwest when the Provincial Exhibition opens at the Willows.

Never before has a more impressive programme of attractions been arranged or a greater entry received. Secretary W. H. Mearns reports. Blue-blooded cattle and aristocratic horses representing the pick of Canada and the choice of the Coast will be rivals. More magnificent six-horse team entries have been received in the last few days and the stock parade and horse shows which will be staged could do credit to any fair on the continent. The big stock parade will be staged on the oval at the race track at 3.30 on the afternoon of Citizens' Day, Tuesday. Stock parades will also be held in the new horse show building in conjunction with the Rotary pageant and horse show at 8.45 Thursday and Friday evenings.

The horse show and the spectacular Rotary pageant make a fitting joint attraction to be presented every evening in the commodious new horse show building which will be in use by the B.C. Agricultural Association for the first time.

There will be something new on the programme each day and every day the ball of fun will roll merrily on the large midway on the ground, formerly occupied by the old horse show building. There will be eight thrilling varieties of rides, side shows, athletic shows, museums and all the other colorful attractions that make the midway.

SHOTS FIRED AT ROBBERS, BUT THEY ESCAPE

Associated Press

Seattle, Aug. 28.—Five shots fired in an automobile chase down First Avenue here late yesterday failed to halt two young men who had held up and robbed two messengers of the $6,000 payroll of the Puget Sound Navigation Company.

The men escaped in congested traffic in the south end of the city a few minutes after the daylight hold-up of A. A. Overhouse, twenty-four, and George Mock, twenty, employees of the navigation company.

Patrolman J. B. Sherry saw the fleeing pair, commandeered an automobile and gave chase. Standing on the running board, he fired five shots and said he believed one struck the driver of the wildly careening car.

MORE PEOPLE

MORE people ride on Good-year Tires than on any other brand. (For 16 consecutive years, Goodyear has enjoyed the largest tire sales in Canada and in the whole world.)

More people want Goodyear Tires than any other brand. (In a nation-wide vote for motorists, 49.29% said they would buy Goodyears—the other half of the votes were divided among 21 makes.)

More people go to Goodyear dealers for tires than to dealers selling any other brand. (Goodyear dealers sell the tires most people want, give the kind of service most people want, carry a complete range of types and prices.)

Goodyears are priced as low as any tires you would consider using. So, seeing that you are going to pay the Goodyear price anyway, why not get Goodyear quality? Ask your Goodyear Selected Dealer for his prices on your size. His answer will surprise you. You will not need to look further.

TELESCOPE IS MOST ESSENTIAL TO ASTRONOMER

R. M. Petrie, Former Victorian, Describes Astronomer's Instruments

Descriptions of various astronomical instruments, amply illustrated with lantern slides, formed the main part of the first fall meeting of the Victoria Centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada in Victoria College yesterday evening. The young speaker, R. M. Petrie, was a former Victoria boy who graduated from U.B.C. in 1928, and is now engaged in postgraduate work at the University of Michigan.

The most essential instrument to the "evernight life" of the astronomer, Mr. Petrie stressed at the beginning of his address, was the telescope. He touched upon the first use of the telescope in Holland soon after the beginning of the seventeenth century. Military officials first saw its value, he said.

NEWTON'S MISTAKE

Galileo, the great Italian, developed the telescope as a refracting instrument and Kepler and his followers used instruments as long as 200 feet. Gregory, an Englishman, was the first to use mirrors instead of lens, thereby employing the reflecting principle. Newton was the first to make close study of the "color" produced in all telescopic images, and came to the conclusion that this unwanted color splurge, due to the different wave lengths in a beam of light being reflected to different depths, was irremovable. But, finally, an "achromatic" telescope was constructed, which gave a clear, colorless image, and it was this telescope in modified form that was in use to-day.

Other instruments described by Mr. Petrie included the heliometer, once much used for measuring the sun, but little used now; the micrometer, for ascertaining the distances and direction of stars; the interferometer, developed by Michelson for determination of stellar diameters; the marvelous spectroscopic, that tells so much about the physical constitution, the temperature, the pressure and the speed of stars; the photometer, for measuring magnitude and intensity; and the radiometer, which registers heat.

The speaker made reference to the 200-inch glass being constructed at Mount Wilson. The telescope would reveal many great mysteries to investigators, for it would handle four times the light and eight times the space of the present largest. The complete telescope will weigh several hundred tons, he added.

Dr. C. S. Beals presided and thanked the speaker. The secretary, P. H. Hughes, read the minutes.

At the conclusion of the meeting, members of the society adjourned to the veranda of the college, where a four-inch telescope was used for observation of the moon.

FIFTY PLANES IN AIR DERBY

First Canadian Event of Kind in Ontario, Creates Much Interest

Well-known Pilots Will Compete; Score of Entries
Already Posted

Fifty planes are expected to take part in the Around-Western-Ontario air derby which will be one of the features of Aviation Day at the Canadian National Exhibition this year. The race, sponsored by the Tip Top Tailors, will be conducted along the lines of the King's Cup race, the annual around-England air test.

Twenty Canadian planes have already been entered and, since less than half of the invitations to Canadian pilots have been answered yet, Fred Shaylor of Skyways Limited, organizer, is expecting at least thirty more to enter Canada's first air derby.

J. A. Webster of Montreal, only Canadian to compete in the King's Cup race in England this year, will fly in the Tip Top race.

BERT HINCKLER ENTERED

Major Bert Hinckler, who holds the light-plane record from London to Australia, will also be a competitor.

Well-known Toronto pilots have signed their entry slips and Captain F. G. Sparks of Windsor will be on hand for the event.

The race is for Canadian aircraft flown exclusively by Canadian pilots. It will be known as the Tip Top Tailor Derby and a total of $5,000 in prizes is being offered by Tip Top Tailors. The start will be from DeLesseps Airport during the morning of September 6, and machines will fly over Hamilton, thence over Brantford, and on to London. A stop of an hour will be made, and they will then fly to Chatham and Windsor to refuel.

FINE PRIZES

The return route will be via Tilbury, Sarnia, Stratford, with a stop at Kitchener, the last leg passing over Guelph, and completing across the breakwater in front of the exhibition grounds. A trophy as well as $2,500 in cash will be the prize for the first pilot to finish the course. Other prizes are $1,500, $750 and $250.

A squadron of Siskin fighting planes, manned by Royal Canadian Air Force pilots from Camp Borden, will again be a feature of the Canadian National Exhibition Aviation Day. Last year the air force machines attracted continental-wide attention with their splendid display of formation flying.
